Caravans
2003

Traditional build skills are expertly combined with the latest computer technology

The Sterling name has been recognised and respected since the earliest days of British caravanning; its history dates back over eighty years, building on a wealth of heritage and experience. Today, traditional craftsmanship is expertly combined with the latest computer technology, advanced manufacturing machinery and innovative design ideas that have successfully led to an enviable collection of design awards.

Three distinct ranges, the celebrated Eccles, the definitive twin-axle Eccles Elite and completely redesigned Europa, provide a choice of models to cater for all your touring needs. And this year there is the addition to all models of an AKS 2004 AL-KO stabiliser, which smoothes the ride for safer towing.

With many components built on site, including the tough and durable GRP (Glass Reinforced Plastic) front and rear panels, quality is assured. The ultra modern manufacturing plant combines computer numerically controlled (CNC) machines, state-of-the-art CAD (computer aided design) and CAM (computer aided manufacture) facilities to produce engineering standards of furniture construction - enjoying the finest quality finish and totally rigid construction that is the envy of the industry.

Safety is top priority and Sterling's commitment is recognised through ISO 9001. Before a prototype is even produced, computer aided design simulates weight distribution and aerodynamics; strict quality control systems follow to ensure each element performs as designed and complies to European standards.

Sterling buys you more than just a tourer, it provides you with a market leading SuperCare aftersales service and 3 year SuperSure manufacturer's warranty, designed to make the ownership of your tourer both enjoyable and trouble-free.

Sterling has an active Owners Club open to all purchasers of a Sterling tourer. Full details can be found by logging on to www.sterlingcaravanowners.co.uk
