You'll be spoilt for choice regarding beaches. There are 150 beaches along the 250 miles of coastline. Newquay's Fistral may have the surfing vibe but also try Gyllyngvase near Falmouth and Porthmeor at St Ives for great days out. Culinary attractions now add to the vibe with excellent local, extensive sea-food and a growing interest in local wine and organic food. Then there's the Rick Stein phenomenon at Padstow and now Jamie Oliver's Fifteen at Watergate Bay. The Eden Project at St Austell is the world's largest rainforest in captivity, one million plants in a series of interconnecting and award-winning architectural "pods". It's a "must see" attraction in this beautiful corner of England.
